Competition Law Issues in the Platform Economy

Comparative Commercial and Economic Law Proceedings from the 38th German Conference on Comparative Law in Tübingen

The rapidly growing worldwide platform economy raises a range of competition law issues that need to be addressed not only at a national, but also at supranational and international level. The characteristic features of market structures, the abuse of power in markets, merger control, and the law on unfair trading practices within the platform economy all provide interesting and worthy subject matter for this volume's contributions by international experts.
